The large open plan living areas are very light, merging beautifully via French doors to your own private decking and balcony. The kitchen is a great size and offers generous bench space including a breakfast bar, while both bedrooms are well proportioned, the main having it's own walk in wardrobe. This complex has always been well sought after due to it's gracious colonial styling which adds a certain charm and individuality, setting it apart from other unit complexes and will appeal to all who inspect. Investors, first home buyers and people who are downsizing will all see excellent value in this property.
